Education

- University of California, Los Angeles Los Angeles, CA, USA
PhD Astronomy and Astrophysics 2018 - Present
- Columbia University (Columbia College) New York, NY, USA
B.A. Astrophysics 2014 - 2018
 - Cumulative GPA: 3.70
 - Senior Thesis: Direct Imaging of Exoplanets with Project 1640

Research Experience

- University of California, Los Angeles Los Angeles, CA, USA
Graduate Student Researcher 2018 - Present
 - Advisor: Dr. Michael Fitzgerald
 - Investigating a theoretical framework for statistics of speckle noise in the high-contrast imaging regime, and using models to explore how we can exploit these statistics to improve contrast in observations.
- American Museum of Natural History New York, NY, USA
REU Student and Undergraduate Researcher 2016 - 2018
 - Advisor: Dr. Rebecca Oppenheimer
 - Worked as a part of Project 1640 focused on direct imaging of exoplanets as a part of the AMNH Summer 2016 National Science Foundation Research Experience for Undergraduates program.
 - Participated in three observing runs with the Project 1640 team at Palomar Observatory in California.
 - Processed infrared images using Python to suppress speckles and detect exoplanets, created lists of targets and assisted in planning for observing runs, and assisted in confirmation of new planet discoveries using astrometry and spectral modeling.
- Space Telescope Science Institute Baltimore, MD, USA
Summer Student and Undergraduate Researcher 2017 - 2018
 - Advisors: Drs. John Stansberry and Bryan Holler
 - Analyzed hyperspectral images and other data products from the New Horizons missions 2015 flyby of Pluto, with the goal of investigating the relationship between topographic factors (albedo, elevation) and the distribution of volatiles on its surface.
 - Created insolation models and maps of surface slopes/gradients for Pluto, based on data from New Horizons MVIC and LEISA instruments.
